

SCIENCE COMMUNICATION WORKSHOP

How to talk "Science" with non-scientists?

Communicating science is crucial for scientists who work with nature, natural resources and conservation.

Join us and explore the world of science communication!

Social Media | Conference Presentations

Public Outreach | Online Communication

Stakeholder Involvement | Academic Collaborations

Host Departments

Wildlife Ecology & Conservation

School of Natural Resources & Environment

Tropical Conservation & Development

Center for Latin American Studies

When: December 8, 2016 | 9.30 am to 3.30 pm

Where: 222 Newins-Ziegler Hall

Please RSVP online to attend. Lunch included.

For registration and additional information see: www.wgsauf.weebly.com